

ABSTRACT

This invention is a method and apparatus having voice invoked self diagnostic means used in a broadband communication network implemented with VOIP. The user can invoke the self diagnostic tasks through voice commands, the results of the diagnosis will be reported back to the user in voice format.

5